Statistics gathered by George W. Paty of the Anti-Saloon League show that the Territory of Hawaii spends more than $1,000,000 yearly for intoxicating liquors, and that the imports from San Francisco alone during 1911 totaled over half a million dollars. Mr. Paty secured his figures from the commission and Hawaii county board official journals of the breweries and of prison inspectors respectively, and distillers and presented them in a lecture he gave in the K. of P. Hall recently. He said in part:

"What do figures show in regard to Honolulu? According to the Pacific Wine and Spirits Review of San Francisco, the value of liquors shipped to Honolulu in 1911 was $529,955. This small Territory paid to San Francisco alone more than half a million dollars.
